

FOOD ideas

Below are ideas of what food/snacks you can use for your table cards, but you're free to use your own creativity!

Bakery: Self-explanatory. Use for any baked good, such as cupcakes or bread.

Reedling's Woodwinds: Whistle Pops - suckers that make music - so cool!

Drumpler's Drumsticks: Small pretzel sticks

Riff Eggs: Cheese balls.

Oaktopus Treetops: Broccoli florets.

Quibble Beaks: Bugles Corn Snacks

Dragong Cymbals: Round crackers (such as Ritz) or round cookies/tea biscuits.

Dandidoo Poufs: Cauliflower

T-Rox Feet: Cheese squares

BONUS! Two pages of blank cards that you can write-in your own labels.

Table cards

1. Print pages onto cardstock with margins set at ZERO on all sides. (110 lb. cardstock is ideal for most home printers.)
2. If you have a scoring tool, use the thin lines in the middle of the cards as a guide for where to make your fold crease. Then cut out each table card and fold in half.
3. If you don't have a scoring tool, then you can cut out the cards and fold by hand, but cardstock can ripple with this method. Otherwise, instead of a folded card, simply cut them in half and just use a flat card to attach to your food container.
